Waveland Eyes Own Schools

A move toward its own school system was launched Tuesday by Waveland Town Council with approval of Mayor Garfield Friserson's appointment of a committee to investigate the feasibility and means of Waveland operating its own schools. Appointed to the committee were R. C. Samuel, C. K. Hervey and Col. William C. Hewitt.

Twenty additional street lights were authorized for installation: six in the 1st Ward, six in the 2nd, seven in the 3rd and five in the 4th. This clearing up the back list of written requests for street lights and provides for nine others, and involves an additional monthly expenditure of $50.

Council accepted the $244.50 bid of Viking Supply Corp., Jacksonville, for furnishing a construction pump and $2,879 bid of Construction Equipment and Supply Co., Gulfport, for a ditching machine. Viking made the low bid three submitted on the pump. Construction Equipment and Supply Co. was low bidder of an identical ditching equipment. Hinton Fire Equipment Co., New Orleans, submitted the low bid of $2,000, on a similar wheel ditcher, but council preferred a tracked ditcher.

Council approved all but one of the exception being a $250 for advertising in the Mississippi Monitor which was held in the magazine is published.

Water and gas department's bills were $14,065.38, an unusually high figure because of the change of a billing machine, $95.40, and pipe, $2,662.17. Building permits were approved as follows: 1st Ward, Mr. John G. Alken, house, 1000; 2nd Ward, Richard H. Ma, III, house, $2,000; and Ward, Mr. Clayburn Frank Jr., house, $5,000.

After council adjourned, Mayor Friserson called a special meeting to consider zoning questions at which heaped the zoning commission town attorney could be present.

Whitfield First to Reach U-2 Plot in Tree

Kenneth Whitfield, civil defense official, was first to reach a plot in a cypress tree perched high in his flame U-2 reconnaissance jet at 11 p.m. Tuesday night.

The explosion and crash of the plane, the wreckage of which was located about nine miles from the crash site, caused much concern as the plane was some 50 miles away in New Orleans.

Whitfield, first spotted from a spotter around 1 a.m. Wednesday, was reached by White, Warren Officer T. R. Ross, Jr., Sgt. Hilbert Miller, Sgt. Kenneth O. Smith of Piquemore National Guard and Sgt. (Boots) Shockstall, a young logger, familiar with the territory, who piloted the plane for three and one-half hours in a 14-foot shift to reach the tree located near Lock No. 1 on the Pearl River Canal at La.

Printing, Dogs Are Topics

Printing of bonds, dogs and dog improvement on Bay St. Louis were the principal topics before Bay St. Louis Council at its meeting Tuesday morning.

Contract for printing of bonds was awarded to the BAWI issue for the $300,000 BAWI issue to finance construction of Industrial Electric's smelting plant was awarded to Demetrios Printing Co., of Meridian after Commissioner J. Cyril Glover moved its price of $33.50 be accepted as the best bid in view of prior experience.

Low bid came from Hodesman Bros. of Jackson at $292.05 while Tom L. Ketchings of Natchez bid $307. Delivery dates varied from Hodesman's seeming low bid both Glover and Commissioner of Finance Warren Thoms noted prior delivery difficulties with Hodesman and their satisfaction with work done by Demetrios. There was no mention of performance by Ketchings, Hodesman or Thoms.

BLUE CRUTCH SALE - Jeanne Rutherford and Dale Russell, American Legion auxiliary juniors, pin Blue Crutches on this family from New Orleans during their solicitation Saturday at various local business places in behalf of the annual March of Dimes. The sale netted $39.97 and the juniors will be joined this Saturday by the Sons of the American Legionnaires in another fund-raising effort. Mrs. Theo Tuhary, campaign chairman, mailed 3,400 letters of solicitation Tuesday and another 1,600 are to go out shortly to cover the county.

Church Buys Kiln School

Sale of the vacated Kiln School property to the Church of the Annunciation for $5,150.20 was unanimously approved by the county board of education at its reorganizational meeting Tuesday.

The lone bid, presented by Rev. Celestine Plamantier, pastor, was almost $2,000 higher than the top price offered on the first bids sought last fall.

The bid of Mrs. Charles M. Bannister, which had been high in October, was withdrawn by her representative before bids were opened after the board's attorney, Walter J. Phillips, explained there had been a typographical error in the notice to bidders published in the local newspapers. (The word should have read 379 feet in stead of 879.) He noted that the teachers' home and home economics building were reserved, being omitted from the property description. Mrs. Bannister's representative said he believed the understood the whole tract was being offered and her price was fixed accordingly.

Motion to accept the church's price was offered by Beat 5 Trustee Ed P. Ortiz who observed that the board had decided it best to sell the property and the price seemed to be satisfactory. S. P. Powell of Beat 4 gave the second. Only Legis Necaise of Beat 3 was absent and those present voted aye.

At the onset of the meeting Charles B. Murphy, Beat 1 trustee, was reelected president of the board and Powell was named to another term as vice president.

The board approved entering a contract with Dalton B. Shourds, Mississippi City architect, to prepare plans and specifications for an addition at Hancock Central School, after conferring with him on a change in mileage reimbursement proposals.

He agreed with the attorney that the work would entail an average of two trips a week to the school, and additional ones would require consent from Superintendent K. G. McCarty for payment of 10 cents a mile. Special trips to Jackson for conferences with the State Education Finance Commission about aid for the job would be at 10 cents a mile plus food expenses.

He also explained the standard fee costs and time of payment during various stages of progress. Phillips noted the board's policy of letting three separate contracts on such construction, one for general building, another for electrical work and a third on plumbing, to permit local firms a better opportunity to bid successfully on the project.

Action on a faculty vacancy at North Central was deferred to the next meeting, set for 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 13, after it was noted A. J. Necaise's 90-day teaching certificate had expired and he could no longer serve. Question also was raised as to the status of Clements Lader's certificate since proper papers had not yet arrived from Jackson.

About half an hour of the session was devoted to the request from two fathers that their sons be reinstated at North Central. They had been expelled just before the Christmas recess for smoking when they had been told it was against rules unless in the designated area and with written consent of the parents.

Sheriff Commences Tax Collections

Sheriff and Tax Collector General V. Price reminded this week that property, ad valorem and poll taxes are now due. Payment must be made by Feb. 1, after which a penalty of one-half of one per cent will be assessed on all delinquent accounts.

only concern was that the work be done in Mississippi. Final resolution on the bond sale was received from Charles and Trautman, St. Louis, Mo., bond attorneys, and approved on the advice of City Attorney Dan M. Russell, Jr.

Council hopes to deliver the bonds by Feb. 1 to First National Bank of Memphis, successful bidders on the issue, although it appears doubtful the new plant will be ready for business by the Feb. 15 deadline it has set.

Service Officer Pay In Question

All county-wide personnel hired on a yearly basis were reappointed in rapid order by the board of supervisors as it opened its 1962 business Tuesday morning on a harmonious note.

The only hitch developed over salaries for the veterans' service officer five-member force when it was determined the one-quarter mill levy will not finance last year's pay for these jobs. Fixing of their salaries was left open until next Monday's meeting.

On the present assessment, it is calculated the levy will raise about $3,300 whereas the $425 monthly payroll will run to $5,100 for the year. Those reappointed and their 1961 monthly pay were Cornelius J. Lader, service officer, $150; Clinton Dedeaux, assistant service officer, $75; Edward Fayard, assistant to the assistant service officer, $50; Marie Quintini, clerk for the service officer, $125, and Vera Breland, file clerk, $25.

After pointing out that anticipated revenue for payment of service officer personnel was about $2,000 less than salaries paid last year and that no funds could be borrowed for that purpose, Beat 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard commented "you must make some kind of cut". Charles Lavinghouse of Beat 3 indicated agreement, and I. M. Frierson of Beat 2 suggested that the

Weekend Break-Ins Are Probed

Under investigation by sheriff's deputies are burglaries of two local homes which were entered sometimes during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Stern discovered the loss of a turkey and some liquor when they returned to their home at 105 Dogwood in Cedar Point on Tuesday. The Hillcrest Subdivision residence of L. and Mrs. Andre Arceneaux, Jr. was also broken into sometime between Christmas and New Year's. Among missing items were a ring, some silver dollars, foreign coins and a camera of German make.

A juvenile was fined for driving at speeds up to 90 miles per hour on New Year's night, his companion, giving first the name Gene Tudor, who was asleep on the back seat, was released. He was later arrested as he returned to the Courthouse, took the car and was picked up on a drunken driving charge. The juvenile was released in his parent's custody. Tudor, who signed his name Virgil G. on the second go-round, was fined $100 and costs of court.

Lone saw misstep in the area based over the holiday weekend occurred when a car belonging to Vic Aime crashed over the seawall at the end of Sycamore Street about 2 a.m. New Year's Day. Plaza Service Station which pulled the vehicle back up reported the 1957 Chevrolet convertible as a total loss. There were no charges.

Similar action was taken on the three bids for furnishing three. Bidders on this item were Oze Oil Co., Arceneaux Super Service and Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky.

Oze Oil's low bid for furnishing gasoline, both regular and premium grades, was accepted.

Thomas O. Logue, administrator of Hancock General Hospital, appeared with a request from the hospital's board of trustees that the city assist in remedying the drainage problem in the front parking area of the hospital. Mayor Scalfie proposed that opening the ditch down Dumar Avenue to the health center should provide better flow-off for rain water. He noted the city was in an ideal position to install a culvert for sub-surface drainage there since it would open the way for similar requests from all over town, adding that cost estimates are expected shortly on surfacing Dumar Avenue and providing a sidewalk.

GATEWAY TO KILN - Weather conditions seem to be the governing factor in completion of this bridge under construction by Circle, Inc., at Bayou La Croix as part of the Kiln Road projects. Pile driving operations were under way when this picture was taken, at present concrete pile capping is being poured for the super-structure. George Humble, superintendent, expects the span to be finished during March. Work on the Jordan River bridge, which is now about 90 per cent complete, should wind up before Jan. 25.

Squabble Indicated Over Redistricting

A schism in the board of supervisors, this time over redistricting the county, was indicated Tuesday by brief exchanges between board President R. G. Hubbard of Beat 5 and Beat 2 Supervisor I. M. Frierson at an otherwise peaceful session.

The sharper exchange at the otherwise peaceful session Frierson said "we'll redistrict this way (moving his hand in a up-and-down manner indicating lines running north and south) and not (hand moving left and right, indicating an east and west division)". That there was no need to worry about the matter for two years, Frierson also contended.

Hubbard had brought the matter up saying he thought the board should consider the matter and Frierson replied "we can't go to do that" and "we will do it when we get ready". To Frierson's retorts the board president replied "we had better get started". It pointed out that redistricting could only be accomplished by the unanimous vote of the supervisors or by vote of the people (EDITOR'S NOTE: the voting procedure is available only after a petition setting forth a proposed redistricting plan and signed by 25 per cent of the county's registered voters is filed with the supervisors), and he queried if Frierson felt his beat, almost entirely within the buffer zone for the Mississippi Test Facility, should continue as one of the county's five districts.

Another possible split in supervisor views was brought to light when Francis (Coat) Lee, former state representative, asked the board to seek authority from the state legislature to sell county lands to those being displaced as a result of location of the test facility in northwest Hancock County.

Discussion indicated that Lee wanted these lands made available in acreage large enough for farming at the per acre price paid the applicant by the United States for his or her land in the buffer zone or test site zone. For himself Lee wanted 65 acres, the amount he says he now owns, and said if he received $200 per acre for his present holding he would gladly pay that for the county owned land.

A quick check by Tax Assessor George Heitzmann showed the county owned 629.6 acres in this classification, but he emphasized that a more deliberate search might show this figure slightly incorrect.

Charge Timber Cutting

The district law enforcement officer of the Mississippi Forestry Commission Tuesday called on the board of supervisors for its cooperation in curbing the cutting and sale of timber on 16th Section lands by individuals and the board promptly requested one alleged offender to appear and explain his actions when it convenes again at 9 a.m. Monday.

The complaint was lodged by Otto Finsane, southeast district enforcement officer, who was accompanied before the board by W. W. Graham, 16th Section forester, Marion Parker, assistant district forester, and Glenn Purvis, area forester.

Finsane said the man had acknowledged cutting timber on Sec. 16-8-16 (in the Gainesville area) for poles in the estimated amount of $62 and spending about $90 for wire to fence in the property. The county sometime ago entered a contract with the forestry commission for reforestation of all 16th Section land not otherwise leased.

Parker noted that any timber cutting had to be approved by a forester and be for improvement of the land. R. G. Hubbard, board president, requested a conservative estimate of the damage, noting that the board as a whole was responsible for any damage to the lands which are designed to financially assist the schools. Gerald Gex, sitting in for his father and the board attorney, noted that sale of such timber must be through bids.

After Finsane related a number of alleged facts concerning the cutting, Supervisor Charles Lavinghouse moved and the board concurred that the man be requested to appear to discuss remuneration and possible extenuating features.

Finsane cautioned that the board may face a considerable problem with the reforestation program as a result of evaporation of the area being acquired for the federal lunar landing program. He said forestry crews are making a close check of 16th Section lands now and Purvis requested supervisors to ask their road crews to watch for and report any possible infractions.

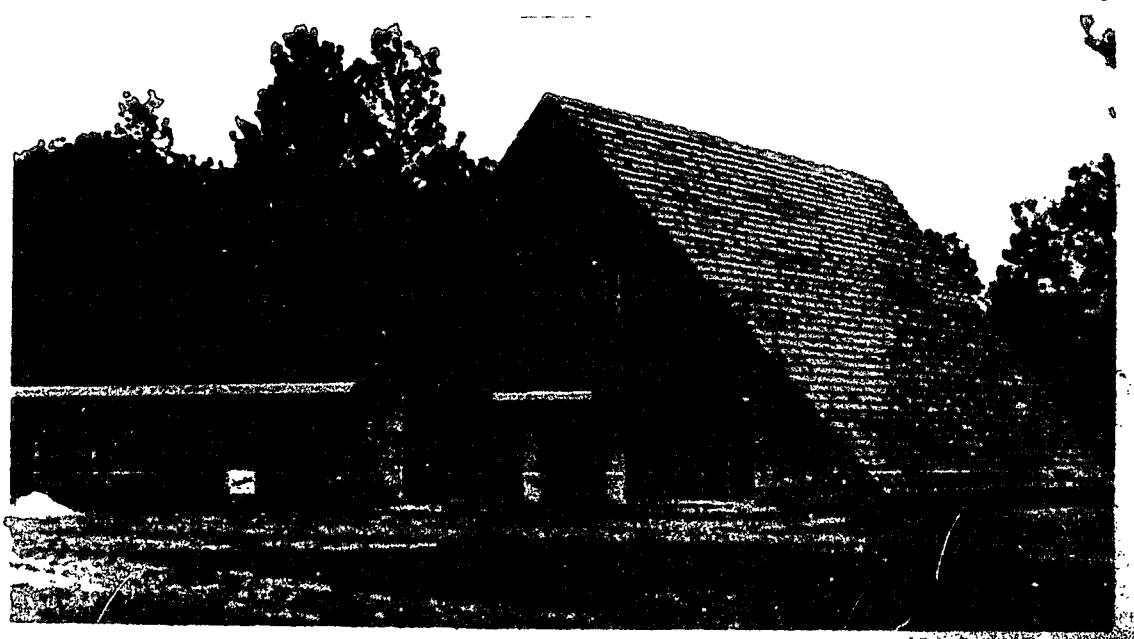

Additional planting of seedlings with 50 per cent federal aid was cited again to the board by Graham and Clerk Claiborne Lader was asked to report on the status of the 16th Section principal fund at the next meeting in case more acreage could be reclaimed.

Announcement of two additional directors and appointment of a cashier had been made this week by the newly formed Coastal Savings and Loan Assn.

The savings and loan opened its doors at 128 Court St. on Tuesday and will hold open house from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday.

ANOTHER NEW CHURCH - Formal dedication of the new Lutheran Church on U. S. 90 just east of Nicholson Avenue is tentatively scheduled for Jan. 21 and initial services are planned there Jan. 23.

Polly At Waveland

As we begin our initial effort for 1962, we thought that it might be well to check upon how things stood at about this time last year. Looking at the Advocate and Echo of Jan. 3 and 5, 1961, we discovered that an architect's sketch of the Merchants' Drive-In branch was prominently displayed on the front page. . . . seems as if it's been completed more than six months, doesn't it? Now the Industrial Electric building is well under way, and we find ourselves right smack dab in the middle of the race to the moon as NASA orbits into Hancock County—quite a bit of progress. . . . along more personal lines we recall that little Linda Marie Montgomery was the number one infant of 1961. . . . that young lady is at present taking her first steps. . . . The Walter Scrimshaw home was awarded a first place in judging by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club holiday lighting contest, as was that of Mrs. Lena Cuevas; and Bea Georgi won in the business display. We regret that Mr. Scrimshaw is no longer with us, Mrs. Cuevas' rooftop decorating son, Felton is a member of the National Guard and Bea is in Switzerland. . . . The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. John March kept Waveland in the running however as they won a first place for their window decoration. We had a candidate picked out for first baby of 1962, but he jumped the gun and little David Heping, first son and second child of Peggy and Floyd Heping arrived last Thursday, Dec. 28, in Baptist hospital in New Orleans. . . . he weighed six pounds, 11 ounces.

No review of the events of the past year would be complete without a mention for the late "honorary Mayor of Waveland" as Eddie Ludek was fondly known to many summer residents—I never glance at the large sycamore trees along Coleman Avenue without feeling that something is missing—then realize that the street will always be just a little emptier and a wee bit lonelier sans Eddie's rakishly tipped hat, swinging cane and smiling "Good morning, Madam!" as in any other year, '61 brought some sadness and much gladness so we'll pass on to some of the happenings of the newly born annum. . . . 1962.

A Frosty New Year's Eve

New Year's Eve brought about quite a variety of weather—temperatures ranged from a sparkling 72 degrees around noon to 40 degrees of chill borne in on a Norwester which blew up in the late afternoon—the rains ceased in time to allow passengers to go, and go they did—large dances at the Yacht Club, the KC Hall, Legion and Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center were all crowded to the limit—Betty and Fred Rose, Georgeanne and Bob Torgerson and Ruth and Bill Lewis were among the crew at the Yacht Club—Toddie and Lawrence Jacob enjoyed their yearly outing at the KC function, Bessie and Lester Harvey actually slipped away from the business long enough to dance a few numbers at the Legion—others present included Nellie Laisance and guests from New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Littleton, Anna and Gilbert Gayard, Marlan and Russell Elliott and of course the John Rutherford family. . . . Living it up at the adult dance at the C-L Youth Center were Gloria and Herbert Peterson, Beulah and Frank ditto, Mable and Lloyd Garcia, Betty and Frank Klein, Elsie and John ditto, also—Jodie and Clarence Herbig, Doris and Baldwin Wilday, Elaine Davis, Ray Borgeas, Grace and Sam Borgeas, Joyce and Fritz Garcia and many, many more.

Many private parties were enjoyed also—Rose and Soc Richmond hosted their annual affair at their Clermont Harbor home—Kase and Charlie Richard did a bit of double celebrating as it was Kase's birthday as well as New Year's Eve—Carmen and Mitch Mitchell had a festive board arranged in their lovely new home for a large number of family and a few close friends, some of their guests included almost all of the kids, husbands, wives, and the college age offspring—(Mamma and Papa were among the missing as they have both been under the weather, but we're glad to hear they're improving)—also present were Joan and Red Glass and Bruce and Sam Ballard, who were forced to dash due to complications arising during the roasting of a 50-pound pig—but that's another tale and as we haven't heard the final chapter, our readers will just have to check with the Ballards as to the ending.

Open House at the Trellises

One of the larger festivities was Bobbie and Marie Trelle's open house—Bobbie was lovely in a brown satin formal—(Marie wore steel grey, for the benefit of our masculine contingent) Allison assisted in receiving in a ballerina length red chiffon—(when not receiving she was teaching the twist to Ruth Ballard, Gertrude Sauer and Lucy Vorbusch—We must mention that the youngest Trellise was adorable in a one piece aqua outfit—among those partaking of the hospitality and simply fabulous food were Pye and Mae Pye, Kammer, Libby and Charlie Perry, Phyl and Jimmy Lagasse and Phyl's brother, Brother Linus, who arrived from Thibodaux for the holiday, he informed us that Eleanor and Bob Reynolds were around also. . . . they now live in Birmingham—June and Jimmy Thomas-Hall, Ruth and Max Ballard, Larry Seuer was with Gertrude, naturally, and numerous others—

The Soy Raucers—(that's not a typo Mrs. M. E., just our method of revenge, as Roy politely introduced us to one and all as Molly) had a family group which included Roy's brother, his wife, Aunt "Nana"—Uncle Buddy, the Millard Toolmes and additional guests including Fran and Jackie Tarleton—and Fran's most attractive mother, Mrs. Fowler who lives in the Vieux Carre—Fran has tennis rackets and is busy teaching her golf clubs in favor of needles with which she is busily knitting booties—which brings to mind another who recently turned bootie knitter—Jackie Bufkin.

Penny Landford, who is top feline bowler at present with a staggering 213, was depressed just before Christmas as husband Tommy's bus was waylaid due to arrive in Houston until Dec. 26th—fortunately he arrived home in time to spend the New Year's holidays with his family. Also happy to note that Rev. Bertrand Eckert is at home once more, but haven't had an opportunity to ask where his most recent voyage took him.

Dual Celebration for Holms

Celebrating not only New Year's Eve, but anniversaries also were Winnie and Jack Holm who observed their 35th with the A. E. Kappa, and Edna and Claude Yarbrough.

Returning Tuesday from Birmingham, Ala., where they spent the Christmas holidays were Jennie (Mrs. Randolph) Borgeas and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ciccioppo who visited Mr. Ciccioppo's three daughters and two sons and families—Mr. and Mrs. Milton Tombrille, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Welbloom and Mrs. Lena Bonatz, Mr. and Mrs. Vito Ciccioppo and son Tommy and Joe, Jr.

Jennie didn't have quite enough visiting, so left for New Orleans Friday to spend New Year's with her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Sager, Mr. Sager and children, Cynthia, Jeffrey, Patricia Mary and Dennis Dorothy.

A very happy, if slightly belated, happy birthday to Elaine Colwell who caught up with Jack Benny on Dec. 27.

Also belated is our welcome home to Waveland to Ruby and

Residents of Evelyn Place, Clermont Harbor, have requested that we mention the fact that their street is one muddy mess due to the fact that there are no drainage ditches on either side—the presence of a ditch digger would be much appreciated in that area.

More get well wishes—Mr. Ed Phillips who was taken to Baptist Monday—New Year's Day—he has pneumonia, and we're sorry to learn that Babe Borgeas has been taken to Hancock General since we mentioned her illness earlier in the column.

Our sincere congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wardell who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary quietly at their home on Dec. 16. Large plans had been made for a party to be given at the home of their son-in-law, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Drummond in New Orleans, but unfortunately Mr. Wardell suffered a heart attack consequently the much smaller affair. The 50th anniversary was combined with a holiday family reunion with all members present with the exception of one grandson, Harold Wardell Drummond, his wife and small son who sent a wire of congratulations from their home in Fresno, Calif. The Wardells were wed in Holy Rosary Church in New Orleans, Mrs. Wardell is the former Henrietta Schayer of New Orleans, Mr. Wardell, born in Cincinnati, Ohio, was before his retirement district manager of the Life Insurance Co. of Virginia. Tony's feeling fine and hasn't missed one day at his barber chair where he's been clipping local pates for over 40 years. . . . Is It Needed

Hancock County's Board of Supervisors has frequently made much over the cost to the county of feeding prisoners placed in the local jail primarily by Sheriff Gerald Price. The board has even gone so far as to imply that this expense is a major reason for the county's poor financial picture, which, on its face, is not the case. Whether Sheriff Price and his deputies put too many people in jail is another question and we would need more facts to hazard a conclusion about that.

But one instance where the board is obviously and voluntarily overstepping seemed to cause little stir until it was realized this week that anticipated revenues for this service could not come close to meeting the payroll. We refer to the service officer and his staff, all part time and perhaps almost no time, at a cost on last month's pay scale of $5,300 a year. Until last year's reorganization the service officer received $100 a month with one assistant at $50 and a clerk at $100 a month each. On reorganization the new service officer was raised to $150 with two assistants at $75 and $50 respectively and during the year clerical costs were increased from $100 to $150, almost doubling the cost of this service.

This has been done although we have heard of no allegation that the work load had increased. To the contrary all indications are that it is less. Since the service officer makes no formal report, we have no way to check on this point, but also, in the absence of a report, we don't know if he or his assistants have done anything.

In any event, the shoe began to pinch this week when the board of supervisors realized that the one-quarter mill tax levy for this purpose would produce revenue amounting to less than two-thirds the salaries being paid.

Come to think of it, does our county, almost broke, need a service officer? We still have the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and others who perform almost the same service.

Board President R. G. Hubbard, not noted for mirth, was responsible for some deep and spontaneous laughter at Tuesday's board meeting, when, after learning that Supervisor Charles A. Russ, Jr., might lead him the use of a sickle mower and operator to clip the shoulders of his state aid road so as to get state approval, he blurted out "Good, that'll give me $29,000—it's all mine—I owe it all."

Russ cautioned "he's (the operator) high and come C.O.D." Turns out Hubbard meant the state aid road project fund owed the money to another county fund the supervisor administrators.

It is surprising to learn that the marathon telephone conversation record is held by a group of students at college instead of by a lone lower-bracket teen age girl at home.

Women are inconsistent creatures. A woman will drag her husband to a party and as soon as he begins to have a good time, she'll forthrightly hustle him home.

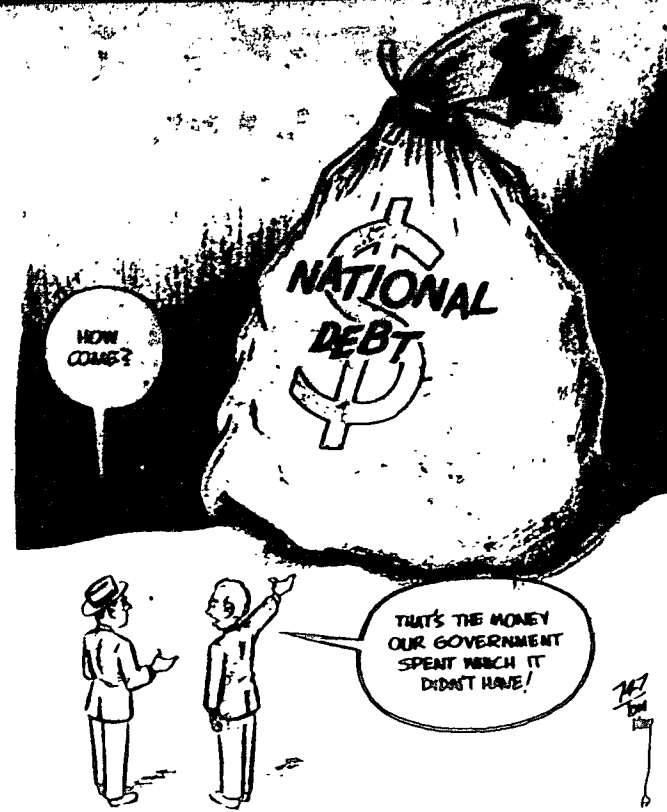

Perhaps a chitopractor, recalling the nice business the flea hoop brought him, thought up the Twist.

Coin Collecting Hobby Thrives Here

A penny saved may often be more than a penny earned. Just ask any one of our local coin collectors—enthusiasts—they number near 25—who make a hobby of inspecting coins with an eagle-eye.
Hancock and Merchants Banks' tellers recently reported that several thousand silver dollars were in circulation, not to mention hundreds of silver dimes. Ray Prosser, who has been at his hobby for better than a year now, explained the rash of silver dollars with a series of Peace dollars he completed as his last project.
"August Scifidi and I were working on the Peace dollars at the same time," Prosser said, "and we must have circulated 2,000 or more of them since July 4."

John Rutherford, III, is one of the parties responsible for the great number of silver dollars around, however, is a 1909 Lincoln penny.
"That was the first year the pennies were minted," John explained, "and about a half million of the first ones in circulation bore the initials of the designer, V. D. Brown. John happened to find one of these engraved coins in the change from his lunch money one day and according to a recent collector's guide and catalog, the copper is now worth at least $45, possibly $60."
Other Bay St. Louisians who "pick their pennies" before letting them go are Russell Chapman, Mrs. Albert Mercier, Pat Murphy, Jake Morreale and many others.

Hubbard contended the limited acreage made it not feasible for the county to do more than make available a homestead for the displaced families, which the board had already agreed to do, since larger tracts would limit the number of families who could be helped. Frierson and Beat 4 Supervisor James Neacise expressed the view that something should be done for those forced to leave larger acreage in the test facility area and apparently thought the limited amount of land would pose no real problem.

Lee then suggested that the board over a period of time take applications for this land and see how much land was sought. At the suggestion of local attorney Gerald Gex, sitting in for his father, Board Attorney Lucien Gex who was out of town, the board postponed further consideration until its attorney could be present and advise on legal aspects of Lee's request.
County finances continued to plague the board when funds were not available in the county general fund to pay the $14,909.99 in outstanding bills, the balance available being only $1,058.80, and payment of these bills was

Gulf Coast History New World Discovered

The historic unknown things which he saw induced him to write of the country as "a new world." He referred, of course, to South America and not to Cuba, which was thought then to be a part of India; nor to North America upon which Columbus had not set foot.
The map-makers of Europe thereafter depicted the explored part of South America as "the New World of America." Afterward, when the region was given the name Brazil, the map-makers applied those words to other discovered parts of South America and, finally, to all new lands as they were discovered in the west. Waldseemüller, in 1507, was the first to use the name America.
This is how the new world came to be called America; in honor of a man who owed his knowledge to the Portuguese, first indirectly and then directly; a man who, when he first saw the new world, was in Portuguese employ and under the command of a Portuguese—Cabrals.
The Cabots (Cabots) too, were Italians; one of them in English employ, the other sailing later for Spain.
Verrazano, who has been credited with having discovered the lower Atlantic coast of North America while in French employ, was also an Italian.
Magalhães, or Magellan as the English and French called him, was a Portuguese of high birth, who did his first sailing for his own country. He was the greatest sailor of them all; for it was an expedition under his command that in 1520 discovered the South American Horn, passed through the straits, made

Hawks Win 14th

North Central's Hawks won their 14th straight victory of the season Friday night, 68-57, over the Long Beach team. The Hawks' record now stands at 14-1 in a preliminary round.

It was the toughest game of the year for Coach Billy Sills' Hawks, who lead the league with 19 wins. North Central played away to win in the game, however. Sills coached there before joining the North Central faculty.

Three players hit in double figures for North Central, led by center Lionel Hade's 19 points. O. J. Peterson contributed 18 to the Hawk cause and Berlin Linder scored 17. Wayne Searles was high for Bogus Chino. Bobby Nease scored 17 points to lead the Hawk B team to its win.

Next action for the Hawks will be Friday night at North Central against the Long Beach team. Tuesday night, North Central will meet Harrison Central, another of the Gulf Coast Conference's most rugged opponents. Earlier in the season, after being down at halftime, Coach Sills' Hawks pulled out a victory in the final half, against Harrison Central at Lyons.

Tree Seedling Supply Dwindles

All Mississippi Forestry Commission supplies of tree seedlings except slash and loblolly pine have been exhausted, according to Area Forester Glenn A. Purvis, who said indications also are that nursery supplies of loblolly pine soon will be depleted.

He urged any landowner who particularly wants loblolly seedlings to apply at the earliest possible date. Remaining seedlings will be distributed under the current Mississippi Forestry Commission policy, each landowner being eligible for 1,000 seedlings for a delivery charge of 35 cents. Orders in excess of 1,000 will cost $4.50 per thousand plus delivery charges. Information on applying may be secured from Purvis or the Agricultural Center in Bay St. Louis.

Purvis also called on citizens of Hancock County and adjoining areas to help prevent forest fires and help keep Mississippi green.

Final plans are now being made for the United Religious Survey to be conducted in Hancock and Harrison Counties by churches of various denominations late in January.

Rev. J. W. Brister, pastor of First Baptist Church in Long Beach and chairman of the survey committee in charge of existing churches, reports that among the congregations confirming their desire to participate in the undertaking are First Baptist of Bay St. Louis, First Baptist of Waveland and Lakeside Baptist. Other churches will also be taking part as soon as the official boards confirm the action.

Each participating congregation is expected to provide the service of two or more typists, each working four hours a day during the week following the actual census. Local personnel committees are in charge of forming work crews to compile the information gathered.

Congregations which have not yet indicated their intention of taking part in the survey are urged to contact Brister, Bay St. Louis First Baptist Church will serve as central church for the area. Dates for the actual census will be Jan. 28-Feb. 2.
